GREENWOOD—ROWE HILL

Hobbs Returned Home—Enjoyed Motor Trip.

Miss Hope Ring has finished work at Arthur Ricker's and is working for Mrs. Clarence Ring at East Sumner for a few weeks.

There was a Rally Day program at the schoolhouse, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ring have returned from their wedding trip and are at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobbs have gone to their home at Gorham, N. H., and will return in a few days to gather their vegetables and close the camp for the winter.

Newton Bryant and family called on their daughter, Mrs. Clarence Ring, and the new eleven pound boy at East Sumner, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ring and Miss Lucy Yates spent Saturday night at Colby Ring's.

Miss Hazel Hanson of Newry is staying at Newton Bryant's and attending high school at Bryant Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Packard and children were at their camp here, Sunday.

Newton Bryant and son, William, were in Norway and South Paris, last Friday.

Mrs. Hall spent a few days at Lamont Brooks, recently; she leaves soon for Alabama.

A slight frost here Monday night; not much damage done to crops and flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Colby Ring with Mr. and Mrs. Will Yates of Lower Greenwood, recently enjoyed a two days trip into Vermont, through St. Johnsbury to Montpelier, where the State House was visited, then through wonderful farming country to Burlington, the largest city in Vermont and in which is the State University, where they will stay.

The lake in which is the headquarters of navigation on Lake Champlain, this lake is 115 miles long and at its greatest width is twelve and one-half miles. A night was spent at over night cabins there and the return trip made through Barre, not far from its granite quarries. The weather was most unfavorable, but excellent roads were found everywhere and much of interest was to be seen, especially through the flood region of the Freshet, the fall of 1927.

It seemed the little dog was running around hunting for a squirrel and got down where the cattle were and some of them had their little bosses with them. It was a large herd of fancy Herefords, owned by E. R. Holmes of Oxford. The dog did not like the looks of the dog, so it started after him with all the rest in close pursuit. Of course the dog came right back to us and of course we did not stop around there long, when we scattered, the dog followed Bertha and Will. This was long before the auto came and no doubt you all have heard how "The Little Dog" will ramble right along. Now there is no Ford that ever rambled right along as Bertha did, she was in high from the start to the finish, just touched on the high spots and Will's little dog looked like the chickens when a hawk is close after them. Bertha made the wall and pulled Will up after her, then took a look around just in time to see the dog go over the wall a little way off, and the bull just missed getting a horn under him. My! what a release, but she had to laugh to see Adelbert holding the tree and standing on the ground. The dog was wise, he stayed out of sight after that and the cattle soon wandered off in search of the cats and when we finally got back to picking Minnie had got the best of that lovely bed of berries in her pail, but the pasture was large and the berries were thick and we all very soon were having the time of our lives. This is one of the many good times I used to have in the years gone by and what laugh we had over some of the times we used to have. Some of the Gang have gone on the long, long journey that has no return, so there are sad memories mingled with the pleasant ones.

Dorothy came down and stayed one night with me, this week—she brought her doll that mama had made a new dress for and she wanted Grandma to make a bed for her dolly—so I hunted up one of the old quilts, years old and we made a mattress and put the dolly in a towel for a spread and she put dolly to bed and went to bed herself in the morning. Grandma took us out to her home and her little tongue did fly telling her mother all about it.

Grandma.

Am I right? If so, you would be surprised to know how near neighbors we are. I saw Grandma by the other day and was tempted to tell him, but thought better of it. And not only that, but I saw your little Dorothy on the street the other day with her mother. I'm not sure just how it is, but I remember of your daughter when I went to school. Her initials before marriage were L. M. and now are L. L. Am I right again? Will be waiting to find out if this is right. It's rather fun to puzzle out just who is who, isn't it?

I shall also be waiting to read some of the young folks works in school. The last of last Spring we had a number of very interesting poems sent in and would like very much to have some more. And stories, too. And perhaps in another week or so, I will have some good news for the Corner Cousins. Am trying to find a way we can have a regular exchange of other if by chance we should pass on the street. Wouldn't that be pleasant? However, I can tell you better later on. Please let me hear from you all soon. Sincerely yours, Aunt Betsy.

Aunt Betsy's Letter

Dear Grandma: Well, Grandma, I have at last discovered who you are and quite by accident, too! I read of some of your family visiting you and as one of the names coincided with names you have mentioned in your letters to the Corner, I have concluded you are Mrs. G. M.
